With more than $100 million in recent jury verdicts, the lawyers at Thorsnes Bartolotta McGuire are rapidly becoming San Diego's "go-to-guys" for clients facing big opponents. The firm handles a variety of plaintiff cases, including business disputes, construction defects, eminent domain, personal injury, wrongful death and products liability.

What their clients discover is a business and personal injury firm that specializes in trial work with an impressive record of awards outside of the courtroom. Since 1982, when The American Lawyer magazine recognized them as one of 20 outstanding new firms in the nation, the firm and its partners have been honored with "Best Lawyers in America" each year since its inception, "Trial Lawyer of the Year" at both the local and state levels, and admission to the prestigious American Board of Trial Advocates.

Creating strong relationships with their clients is the backbone of the firm, and at its foundation is compassion. "Attorneys who do this work have to have heart," says partner Vincent Bartolotta. "We work long hours because we believe in our clients."

to success. "We call it being fierce but fair," he says. "When we take a case we take on our client's burdens. Their worries are over."

The breadth of experience in the firm provides its clients with some of the finest representation in the state. Several of its cases have been precedent-setting landmarks. One case

"Taking on the tough cases is what sets us apart," says partner Kevin Quinn. "We're not afraid to take the risks our clients need us to take."
